The Okta Identity Cloud enables enterprises to securely connect people to technology, anywhere, anytime and from any device. Every business day, over two million people use Okta to access a wide range of cloud applications, websites, mobile applications and services from a multitude of devices. Workforces sign into Okta's platform to seamlessly access the applications they need to do their work. Organizations also use Okta's platform to provide their customers with more modern experiences online and to connect with partners to streamline their operations. Developers leverage Okta's platform to securely embed identity into their software.

"We founded Okta to enable any organization to use any technology, and we believe identity is the key to making that happen. The Okta Identity Cloud helps organizations effectively harness the power of cloud and mobile technologies by securing users and connecting them with the applications they rely on," said Todd McKinnon, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Okta. "Today's IPO on Nasdaq is an exciting milestone and underscores our long-term commitment to customer success and our great team."

"Nasdaq is excited to welcome Okta to our family of leading and disruptive enterprise technology companies," said Nelson Griggs, Executive Vice President, Head of Global Listings, Nasdaq. "Cloud computing has been a momentous technological transformation for organizations of all sizes and across every industry. We are truly proud that Okta chose Nasdaq as its listing partner as the company continues to help organizations effectively harness the power of
