About National Autism Association — New York Metro Chapter:

NAA New York Metro is a chapter of the National Autism Association and is run entirely by volunteers who are parents, grandparents and others who are directly affected by autism. Since our formation in early 2008, we have provided educational meetings, support groups, NAAvigator parent mentoring, workshops, website, blog and other services and events to support the autism community in the New York metropolitan area. In 2010, we expanded our programming to include a Helping Hand Grants ($500 grants to families to help with therapy costs) and a Summer Program (for the last two weeks of August when special needs schools are off). We also have branches in Westchester and Staten Island.
